

International Employee Assistance

Organisations are increasingly offering equivalent benefits to their employees wherever they are based. Staff who are either sent overseas on short assignments or who are taking up contracts away from home for a few years are entitled to the support they enjoy when home based, and companies are keen to provide specialist support to 'trailing spouses' and families where possible.

The CiC Global EAP programme ensures 24/7 telephone and clinical support across the world, with interventions provided in most languages – which also ensures that local staff have access to high quality professional help.

Features

Using this service your employees can . . .

- Access a 24/7 helpline from across the globe via phone, email, Skype etc.
- Speak to experts in their region in language of choice
- Engage in pre-assignment training delivered by CiC
- Continue to receive support from the UK-based EAP.

Benefits

Using this service will mean your employees . . .

- Feel valued by the organisation when away from home
- Can access the service for family support – both for emotional and practical issues – ensuring smooth transition to a new culture
- Receive ongoing clinical support in their new place of work where needed.
